Mary's Meals – Double the Love

Up to 31 January, donations made to Mary's Meals will be doubled by a group of generous supporters, up to £1.5million.

Today, we face some of our greatest challenges yet in a world devastated by conflict, food insecurity and the cost-of-living crisis. With Double the Love, your donation will be matched and your kindness will go even further, meaning we can reach even more desperately hungry children with a life-changing school meal. Reflection – The Mass: Sign of The Cross

The sign means a lot of things. Here are six meanings, with and without words. The sign of the cross is: a confession of faith; a renewal of baptism; a mark of discipleship; an acceptance of suffering; a defence against the devil; and a victory over self-indulgence.

When we make the sign, we are professing a mini version of the creed — we are professing our belief in the Father, and in the Son and in the Holy Spirit. When we say the words and pray in someone's name you are declaring their presence and coming into their presence — that's how a name is used in Scripture.

As a sacramental, it's a renewal of the sacrament of baptism; when we make it you say again, in effect, "I died with Christ and rose to new life." The sign of the cross in baptism is like a Christian circumcision, which united Gentile converts to the Jewish nation. The sign links you to the body of Christ, and when we make it we remember our joining to the body with Christ as the head.

The sign of the cross is a mark of discipleship. Jesus says in Luke 9:23, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." The word that the Fathers of the Church used for the sign of the cross is a Greek word that is the same as what a slave owner put on a slave, a shepherd put on a sheep and a general put on a soldier — it's a declaration that I belong to Christ.

Self-denial is not just giving up little things; to be a disciple we are under Christ's leadership and we don't belong to yourself. By doing the sign of the cross, we're saying to the Lord, "I want to obey you; I belong to you. You direct all my decisions. I will always be obedient to God's law, Christ's teachings and the Church."

When suffering comes, the sign of the cross is a sign of acceptance. It's remembering that Jesus became a man and suffered for us and that we participate in Christ's suffering. The sign of the cross says, "I am willing to embrace suffering to share in Christ's suffering."

When we're suffering, when we're feeling like God is not there, the sign of the cross brings Him there and declares his presence whether we feel it or not. It is a way of acknowledging Him at that time of trial.

One of the main teachings of the early Church Fathers is that the sign of the cross is a declaration of defence against the devil. When we sign ourselves, we are declaring to the devil, "Hands off. I belong to Christ; he is my protection." It's both an offensive and defensive tool.

The sign of the cross is a way to put to death self-indulgence — those big problems we have, the stubborn things we can't get rid of. The Church Fathers say if you are angry, full of lust, fearful, emotional or grappling with fleshly problems, make the sign when tempted and it will help dispel the problem.
